

Nothing Kills the Fire Alarm Like a Fire Alarm: Protect Your Peace by Protecting Your Power

Nothing Kills the Mood Like a Fire Alarm

Why Candle Safety — and a UPS Battery Backup —
Matter During a Power Outage

Power outages have a way of instantly changing the atmosphere. One moment you're relaxed, cozy, maybe even romantic... the next, the lights go out. Many people reach for candles to bring back warmth and ambiance. But there's one thing that will absolutely ruin that moment faster than anything else: A screaming fire alarm and worse – an actual fire! That's why, during a power outage, candle safety, and power backup go hand in hand.

- THE CANDLE TRAP

- When the power goes out, candles become the go-to solution. They're warm, familiar, and comforting. BUT – they're also one of the leading causes of fires during outages.
- All it takes is a knocked-over candle, a curious pet, a sudden draft, or someone falling asleep... and suddenly your peaceful evening turns into flashing lights, blaring sirens, nosey neighbors, and an intrusive visit from your local fire department.
- That's not just embarrassing – it's dangerous.

- FIRE ALARMS ARE NOT THE VIBE

- Fire alarms exist to save lives, but let's be honest – they're also incredibly effective at wrecking the mood.
- Whether you're having a cozy night in, hosting friends, setting a romantic table for two, or trying to relax during a storm, once that alarm goes off, the moment is over. There's no going back to "relaxed" when 120 decibels of panic are screaming from the ceiling.
- The best way to avoid that? Don't rely on open flames for light when the power goes out.

Nothing Kills the Fire Alarm Like a Fire Alarm: Protect Your Peace by Protecting Your Power

- THE SAFER, SMARTER ALTERNATIVE

- A UPS (Uninterruptible Power Supply) gives you instant, automatic backup power when the electricity goes out. No scrambling. No candles. No fire risk.
- With a Minuteman UPS, you can safely keep running lamps, wi-fi routers, computers, TVs, and other home electronic devices.
- That means with a Minuteman UPS, even after the power goes out, you still have light, connection, and comfort — without lighting a single match. Let the sparks fly elsewhere ;)

- LESS PANIC, MORE PEACE

- Candles are beautiful, but during a power outage, they're also one of the biggest hazards in your home.
- A Minuteman UPS lets you see where you're walking, avoid accidents, keep kids and pets safe, prevents house fires, and yes, it can also help keep the mood intact by letting you focus on what – or rather who – really matters.
- Instead of worrying about flickering flames, you can relax knowing your lamps and devices are being powered safely.

A Minuteman UPS is about more than convenience, it's about safety, comfort, and avoiding the kind of chaos that no amount of romance, relaxation, or ambiance can survive. Because nothing kills the mood like a fire alarm, and nothing prevents it better than a Minuteman UPS.
